WIDOW ACCUSED OF KIDNAPING BROTHERS OF LADY IN DISTRESS

Charging that Lillian M. Glover, the widow of Clarence F. Glover, maliciously and feloniously caused his death in Waltham on November 20 last for the purpose of obtaining his property, the Glover brothers, who contested the will, today filed with the clerk of courts of Middlesex County an appeal from the decision of Judge Charles J. McIntyre, who, following a long and bitterly fought attempt to have the will broken, held that the will had been properly made.

Four Brothers in Again.
The appeal is signed by the four brothers who contested the will, William L. Glover, Albert H. Glover, Arthur B. Glover and Norman S. Glover.
Hedges alleging that Mrs. Glover caused the death of her husband. It is charged in the appeal that the will was procured through "fraud and undue influence of Lillian M. Glover and John Ince." It is also alleged that Mrs. Glover was the legal wife of Glover.
The language of the appeal follows:
Commonwealth of Massachusetts.
Middlesex County.
Superior Court.
In re: the will of Clarence F. Glover.
The appellants, being the four brothers of the deceased, namely, William L. Glover, Albert H. Glover, Arthur B. Glover and Norman S. Glover.
Appellants' Reasons for Appeal.
The appellants, having appealed from the decree of the Probate Court whereby a certain instrument was allowed as the last will and testament of Clarence F. Glover, hereby assign the following reasons for their appeal.
First.—The said instrument was not executed by the deceased.
Second.—The said Clarence F. Glover was not of sound and disposing mind and memory at the time of the execution of the same.
Third.—The said instrument was procured to be made through the fraud and undue influence of Lillian M. Glover and John Ince, or either of them.
Fourth.—The said instrument was procured to be made through the fraud and undue influence of Lillian M. Glover and John Ince, or either of them.
Fifth.—The said instrument was procured to be made through the fraud and undue influence of Lillian M. Glover and John Ince, or either of them.
Sixth.—The said instrument was procured to be made through the fraud and undue influence of Lillian M. Glover and John Ince, or either of them.
Seventh.—That part of said instrument whereby a trust is created for the benefit of Lillian M. Glover, her heirs, assigns, children and issue, is void and voidable, for that the said Lillian M. Glover, while alive, was the wife of Clarence F. Glover, and the said instrument was procured to be made through the fraud and undue influence of Lillian M. Glover and John Ince, or either of them.
Eighth.—That part of said instrument whereby a trust is created for the benefit of Lillian M. Glover, her heirs, assigns, children and issue, is void and voidable, for that the said Lillian M. Glover, while alive, was the wife of Clarence F. Glover, and the said instrument was procured to be made through the fraud and undue influence of Lillian M. Glover and John Ince, or either of them.
Ninth.—That part of said instrument whereby a trust is created for the benefit of Lillian M. Glover, her heirs, assigns, children and issue, is void and voidable, for that the said Lillian M. Glover, while alive, was the wife of Clarence F. Glover, and the said instrument was procured to be made through the fraud and undue influence of Lillian M. Glover and John Ince, or either of them.
Tenth.—That part of said instrument whereby a trust is created for the benefit of Lillian M. Glover, her heirs, assigns, children and issue, is void and voidable, for that the said Lillian M. Glover, while alive, was the wife of Clarence F. Glover, and the said instrument was procured to be made through the fraud and undue influence of Lillian M. Glover and John Ince, or either of them.
Eleventh.—That part of said instrument whereby a trust is created for the benefit of Lillian M. Glover, her heirs, assigns, children and issue, is void and voidable, for that the said Lillian M. Glover, while alive, was the wife of Clarence F. Glover, and the said instrument was procured to be made through the fraud and undue influence of Lillian M. Glover and John Ince, or either of them.
Twelfth.—That part of said instrument whereby a trust is created for the benefit of Lillian M. Glover, her heirs, assigns, children and issue, is void and voidable, for that the said Lillian M. Glover, while alive, was the wife of Clarence F. Glover, and the said instrument was procured to be made through the fraud and undue influence of Lillian M. Glover and John Ince, or either of them.
Thirteenth.—That part of said instrument whereby a trust is created for the benefit of Lillian M. Glover, her heirs, assigns, children and issue, is void and voidable, for that the said Lillian M. Glover, while alive, was the wife of Clarence F. Glover, and the said instrument was procured to be made through the fraud and undue influence of Lillian M. Glover and John Ince, or either of them.
Fourteenth.—That part of said instrument whereby a trust is created for the benefit of Lillian M. Glover, her heirs, assigns, children and issue, is void and voidable, for that the said Lillian M. Glover, while alive, was the wife of Clarence F. Glover, and the said instrument was procured to be made through the fraud and undue influence of Lillian M. Glover and John Ince, or either of them.
Fifteenth.—That part of said instrument whereby a trust is created for the benefit of Lillian M. Glover, her heirs, assigns, children and issue, is void and voidable, for that the said Lillian M. Glover, while alive, was the wife of Clarence F. Glover, and the said instrument was procured to be made through the fraud and undue influence of Lillian M. Glover and John Ince, or either of them.
Sixteenth.—That part of said instrument whereby a trust is created for the benefit of Lillian M. Glover, her heirs, assigns, children and issue, is void and voidable, for that the said Lillian M. Glover, while alive, was the wife of Clarence F. Glover, and the said instrument was procured to be made through the fraud and undue influence of Lillian M. Glover and John Ince, or either of them.
Seventeenth.—That part of said instrument whereby a trust is created for the benefit of Lillian M. Glover, her heirs, assigns, children and issue, is void and voidable, for that the said Lillian M. Glover, while alive, was the wife of Clarence F. Glover, and the said instrument was procured to be made through the fraud and undue influence of Lillian M. Glover and John Ince, or either of them.
Eighteenth.—That part of said instrument whereby a trust is created for the benefit of Lillian M. Glover, her heirs, assigns, children and issue, is void and voidable, for that the said Lillian M. Glover, while alive, was the wife of Clarence F. Glover, and the said instrument was procured to be made through the fraud and undue influence of Lillian M. Glover and John Ince, or either of them.
Nineteenth.—That part of said instrument whereby a trust is created for the benefit of Lillian M. Glover, her heirs, assigns, children and issue, is void and voidable, for that the said Lillian M. Glover, while alive, was the wife of Clarence F. Glover, and the said instrument was procured to be made through the fraud and undue influence of Lillian M. Glover and John Ince, or either of them.
Twentieth.—That part of said instrument whereby a trust is created for the benefit of Lillian M. Glover, her heirs, assigns, children and issue, is void and voidable, for that the said Lillian M. Glover, while alive, was the wife of Clarence F. Glover, and the said instrument was procured to be made through the fraud and undue influence of Lillian M. Glover and John Ince, or either of them.

Civil Service Commission Fails to Report on Appointment as Fire Commissioner of Boston—Rourke Approved as Superintendent of Streets.

Jeremiah J. McCarthy, Surveyor of the Port of Boston, appointed by Mayor Fitzgerald Fire Commissioner of this city, is not approved by the Civil Service Board in its report today.

The report is silent as to McCarthy and this is taken at City Hall as conclusive that the appointment is rejected by the silent method as was the case with former Mayor Hibbard.

The Board certified the appointment of Louis Keegan Rourke as Superintendent of Streets at a salary of $7,500 a year.

The thirty-day limit on McCarthy's appointment expires to-night.

The commission also failed to approve the nomination of Samuel H. Burdick as Fire Commissioner.

EIGHT FAMILIES DRIVEN OUT IN FIRE PANIC

Eight families were driven from their homes early today by a fire which broke out in the large apartment house at the corner of Shawmut avenue and Worcester street in the South End. The cause of the fire is unknown. It started in the first floor of the building near Miss Nellie's Steward's laundry. The damage was estimated $2,000.

The building, a four-story brick structure, is located at the corner of Worcester street, Shawmut avenue and Stevens street. The fire was discovered shortly after 6 o'clock by Patience Langdon of the East Indian street station.

At that time it was burning fiercely and flames were issuing through the laundry windows and eating their way to the apartments above.

Patience Langdon ran to the Dwight School on West Springfield street and sent to an alarm from the special box in that building. Then he hurried back and assisted the tenants in making their escape from the building.

When the fire of the first apartment arrived it looked as though the fire was burning toward the tenements above and a second alarm was ordered.

The fire was burning fiercely in the two stories on the first floor, Nos. 434 and 436, when the fire department arrived. They were assisted from the building by two firemen.

On the floor above Paul M. Matthews, his wife, a son, a married daughter, his wife and a daughter were sleeping in the top floor, together with Lou Morris with his wife and child. Smoke from the fire poured through the halls of the building and filled the apartments on the Worcester street side of the building. Four families on this side of the structure were compelled to leave their homes.

A fire which broke out shortly after 9 o'clock today in an unoccupied room on the top floor of the four-story apartment house at No. 443 Beacon street, and near the corner of Irving street, was extinguished by the fire department. The cause of the fire is unknown.

DE LESSEPS FLIES ACROSS CHANNEL

DOVER, England, May 21.—Count de Lesseps flew across the English Channel in an aeroplane from France this afternoon, landing near Deal.

TORPEDO BOATS FOLLOW BALD AVIATOR.
The first man to duplicate Blériot's feat, Count de Lesseps, started from Calais at 2:20 p. m.

It had been expected that the flight would be made today, but it was postponed because of bad weather. The aviator, however, was not deterred and he had been flying for several days.

Through fog he was able to find his way across the channel and he landed safely at Deal.

Count de Lesseps, however, started at a much less favorable time than a still fog was beginning to rise, up the white cliffs.

He shot away from the French shore in a Bleriot, but a comparatively easy feat.

NATION GONE WILD OVER ARMAMENT

WASHINGTON, May 21.—That the United States has gone wild in the matter of armament, and especially in the matter of the construction of the new battleships, is the opinion of many of the leading military and naval authorities.

The new battleships, which are being constructed at the Navy Yard, are being built at a cost of $10,000,000 each.

The Passing of King Edward VII.

By Ella Wheeler Wilcox

Long time a Prince, brief time a King. He seemed in his full day of life A Royal Troubadour. God rest his soul. He lived. Mayhap his living proved That Kings are not divine. He knew the joy of being loved; But erred not with design. God rest his soul. He died. So mightier Kings have done. His royal reign was brief. But few the monarchs who have won Such meeds of honest grief. God rest his soul.

Fifty Dollars for Printing the Sermon on the Mount

Gladly We Publish the Sermon—Although We Can Not Accept the $50

Copyright, 1910, by American Journal Company

A man who signs his name "Christian," and who writes with blue and red ink, sends this letter:

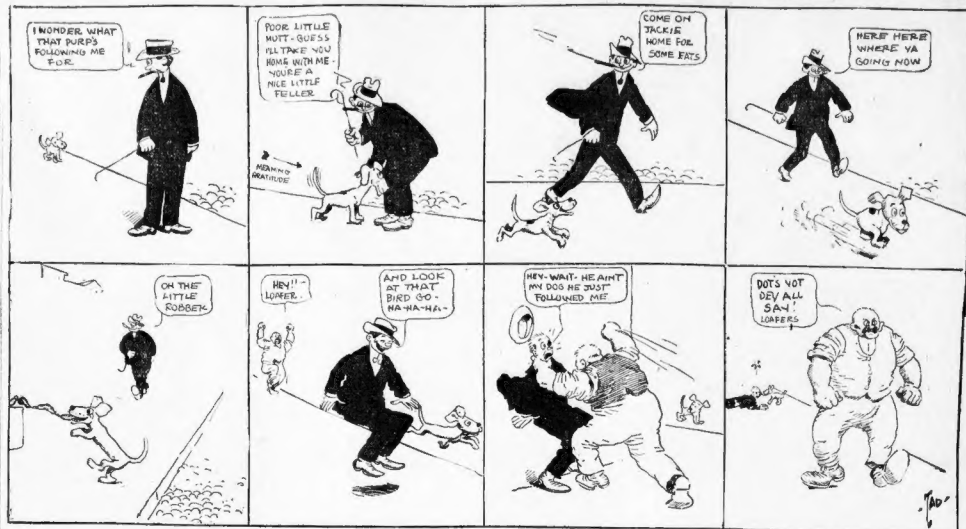

Dear Sir—I am mailing you this Holy Bible for a good cause and want you grant my humble request we may be instrumental in leading many lost souls to God, through Jesus Christ. I am beginning a journey of many miles, and, after purchasing transportation, I have only $125 left to take care of me in event of misfortune, but from this I have cheerfully taken $50 and place it between the covers of this Good Book, and humbly beg that you publish Christ's Sermon on the Mount.

No more reach one lost soul, and should we lead one soul to God, at the wealth of the world could not purchase that one soul from Him. If you cannot grant this favor, then please take the $50 and buy fifty Bibles and give them to as many drunkards, and if one be led out of death into life my purpose will not be in vain. God be with you, for Christ's sake. Your humble servant,

With the letter the gentleman sends a leather-covered copy of the Bible, and in the Bible fifty dollars in greenbacks. The fifty dollars we shall not accept as pay for publication of the Sermon on the Mount. The money shall be spent for Bibles, and they shall be distributed as wisely as possible.

More than once in this column the Sermon on the Mount has appeared already—on Christmas Day and on other occasions. It cannot be printed too often. Nothing more beautiful, more comforting, or more noble has ever been written than these wonderful words:

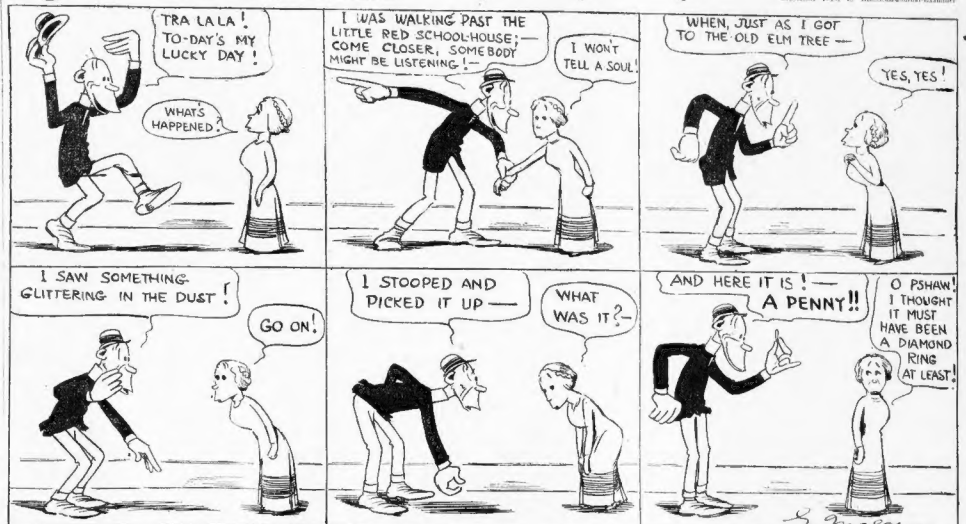

And seeing the multitudes, He went up into a mountain; and when He was set, His disciples came unto Him: And He opened His mouth and taught them, saying: Blessed are the poor in spirit: for theirs is the kingdom of heaven. Blessed are they that mourn: for they shall be comforted. Blessed are the meek: for they shall inherit the earth. Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after righteousness: for they shall be filled. Blessed are the merciful: for they shall obtain mercy. Blessed are the pure in heart: for they shall see God. Blessed are the peacemakers: for they shall be called the children of God. Blessed are they which are persecuted for righteousness sake: for theirs is the kingdom of heaven. Blessed are ye, when men shall revile you, and persecute you, and shall say all manner of evil against you falsely, for my sake. Rejoice, and be exceeding glad: for great is your reward in heaven: for so persecuted they the prophets which were before you. Ye are the salt of the earth: but if the salt have lost his savor, wherewith shall it be salted? it is thenceforth good for nothing, but to be cast out, and to be trodden under foot of men. Ye are the light of the world. A city that is set on an hill cannot be hid. Neither do men light a candle, and put it under a bushel, but on a candlestick; and it giveth light unto all that are in the house. Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in heaven. Think not that I am come to destroy the law, or the prophets: I am not come to destroy, but to fulfill. For verily I say unto you, Till heaven and earth pass, one jot or one tittle shall in no wise pass from the law, till all be fulfilled. Whosoever therefore shall break one of these least commandments, and shall teach men so, he shall be called the least in the kingdom of heaven: but whosoever shall do and teach them, the same shall be called great in the kingdom of heaven. Again, ye have heard that it hath been said by them of old time, Thou shalt not forswear thyself, but shall perform unto the Lord thine oaths: But I say unto you, Swear not at all; neither by heaven; for it is God's throne: Nor by the earth; for it is His footstool, neither by Jerusalem; for it is the city of the great King. Neither shalt thou swear by thy head, because thou canst not make one hair white or black. But let your communication be, Yea, yes; Nay, nay: for whatsoever is more than these cometh of evil. Ye have heard that it hath been said, An eye for an eye, and a tooth for a tooth: But I say unto you, That he that resisteth evil; but whosoever shall smite thee on thy right cheek, turn to him the other also. And if any man will sue thee at the law, and take away thy coat, let him have thy cloak also. And whosoever shall compel thee to go a mile, go with him twain. Give to him that asketh thee, and from him that would borrow of thee turn not thou away. Ye have heard that it hath been said, Thou shalt love thy neighbor, and hate thine enemy: But I say unto you, Love your enemies, bless them that curse you, do good to them that hate you, and pray for them which despitefully use you, and persecute you: That ye may be the children of your Father which is in heaven: for He maketh his sun to rise on the evil and on the good, and sendeth rain on the just and on the unjust. For if ye love them which love you, what reward have ye? do not even the publicans so? And if ye salute your brethren only, what do ye more than others? do not even the publicans so?
